"Our approach, in the midst of what are admittedly absorbing macro discussions, has been to focus on finding good businesses, rather than try to speculate on events."

Investment Manager's Report

It was a difficult 12 months for Asia's equity markets, which ended more strongly than they began despite media coverage about the sluggish U.S. recovery and debt problems in the Eurozone. While macroeconomic news seemed to overwhelm sentiment in the markets, valuations in Asia at the end of March remained below long-run historical averages. Over recent months I have commonly heard investors say: "I'm waiting for the pullback."

The Funds held up well relative to markets, which were volatile: rising and falling in line with short-term news on growth and risk sentiment. During brief rallies, the Funds typically lagged, for this is when commodity companies and more cyclical business did well. Our Funds, which own comparatively less in such businesses, did not keep pace. However, the Funds' focus on investing for the long run in businesses with more transparent cash earnings streams helped relative performance for the 12 months ending 31 March 2012. We do not seek to time abrupt cycles. Rather, we continue to test our long-term assumptions and beliefs and "get on the road" to speak with managers in Asia.

Three areas received particular attention of late: Japan, India and small Chinese companies. Japanese valuations are very low-shares on average trade at book value. In addition, new markets are opening up for some Japanese companies, including factory automation, health care and consumer goods. All of these industries benefit from rising wages in Asia—a trend that we believe will continue and can only bring prosperity to Asia's households. India and smaller companies in China suffered severe dislocations in 2011. India's stock market and currency fell: despite a recent rally in both, the market capitalisations of many Indian businesses in U.S. dollar terms are still well below levels attained in the last five years and valuation multiples have also contracted. Several members of our investment team, from different Funds, spent some 50 person-days in India during the first quarter of 2012 alone to research ideas. China's smaller companies were hit hard by corporate governance scandals among some Chinese companies listed in the U.S. and Canada. In addition, there was a credit squeeze in China as bank lending dried up and informal capital-raising became a high-profile legal issue.

Several lead portfolio managers visited and talked extensively with entrepreneurs from Wenzhou, the heartland of Chinese entrepreneurialism and informal financing. The entrepreneurs reported that labour and raw material costs were more challenging than funding, but that business was good. Entrepreneurs candidly admitted mistakes of over-diversification and unrelated property investments, but noted that their mistakes just made them more determined than ever to focus on their core business.

We remain confident in the long-term growth and prosperity of Asia. Therefore, our approach, in the midst of what are admittedly absorbing macro discussions, has been to focus on finding good businesses, rather than try to speculate on events. As much as we all like to discuss the big issues of the day, for members of the Matthews investment team, the real excitement and challenge comes in discovering businesses whose future prospects are underappreciated by the average view of the investment community.

It is a privilege to act as your investment advisor in Asia's equity markets.

Following our appointment by the general meeting of the Shareholders dated 21 June 2011, we have audited the accompanying financial statements of Matthews Asia Funds (the "SICAV") and each of its Sub-Funds, which comprise the Statement of Assets and Liabilities and the Schedule of Investments as at 31 March 2012 and the Statement of Operations and Changes in Net Assets for the year then ended, and a summary of significant accounting policies and other explanatory information.

Responsibility of the Board of Directors of the SICAV for the financial statements

The Board of Directors of the SICAV is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of these financial statements in accordance with Luxembourg legal and regulatory requirements relating to the preparation of the financial statements and for such internal control as the Board of Directors of the SICAV determines is necessary to enable the preparation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

Responsibility of the réviseur d'entreprises agréé

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit. We conducted our audit in accordance with International Standards on Auditing as adopted for Luxembourg by the Commission de Surveillance du Secteur Financier. Those standards require that we comply with ethical requirements and plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance whether the financial statements are free from material misstatement.

An audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. The procedures selected depend on the réviseur d'entreprises agréé's judgement, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error. In making those risk assessments, the réviseur d'entreprises agréé considers internal control relevant to the entity's preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the entity's internal control. An audit also includes evaluating the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates made by the Board of Directors of the SICAV, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the financial statements.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion.

Opinion

In our opinion, the financial statements give a true and fair view of the financial position of Matthews Asia Funds and each of its Sub-Funds as of 31 March 2012, and of the results of their operations and changes in their net assets for the year then ended in accordance with Luxembourg legal and regulatory requirements relating to the preparation of the financial statements.

Asia Dividend Fund

Fund Manager Report

Performance figures discussed in any of the Fund Manager Commentaries reflect that of the Institutional Accumulation Class Shares (USD).

For the one-year period ending 31 March 2012, the Asia Dividend Fund returned 2.20% while its benchmark, the MSCI All Country Asia Pacific Index fell -4.02%.

The 12-month period was a challenging one for most asset managers punctuated by volatility, which was fed by fleeting worries over both natural and man-made disasters in Japan, Europe's debt crisis and slowing global growth. More pertinent to Asia, China's moderating growth outlook weighed on the share prices of companies historically tied to the country's investment-led expansion. The first three months of 2012, however, saw optimism return in equity markets globally. The European Central Bank stepped up its support of Europe's banking sector and, by extension, sovereign bond markets. The financial sector rallied in response, not just in Europe, but in Asia as well. Economic data out of the U.S., while still patchy, seemed to indicate the economy had bottomed and was on a slow path to recovery. This sentiment buoyed equities of more cyclical businesses, such as the consumer discretionary and information technology sectors.

In spite of the market volatility, we remained focused on our aim of investing with companies that grow dividends. The Fund's holdings in the consumer staples, utilities, health care and telecommunication services sectors delivered positive performance. Within the Fund's consumer discretionary holdings, Shenzhou International Group, a Chinese clothing manufacturer, posted strong performance on the back of ongoing earnings and dividend growth. The company grew its dividend 39% in calendar year 2011.

The Fund's holdings in KT&G and Japan Tobacco were strong performers as investors found the cash-generative nature of the tobacco business attractive. Another strong performer was Cheung Kong Infrastructure, a Hong Kong-listed utility company with assets mainly in developed economies with better regulatory frameworks. The high dividend yield relative to low interest rates in Hong Kong, combined with yield-accretive acquisitions offered an attractive combination of growth and dividend income.

In mid-February, the Bank of Japan initiated an explicit inflation target of 1%, resulting in a sharp 7.2% sell-off in the yen during the first three months of 2012, as markets expected a more expansionary monetary policy would be needed to fight Japan's entrenched price deflation. The yen's weakness did present some headwinds for the value of the Fund's Japanese holdings. In spite of this, on the whole, our Japanese holdings managed to deliver positive absolute performance.

Our holdings within apparel retailers continued to negatively impact performance during the period. Esprit Holdings, Li Ning, Point and Billabong International all posted steep losses for the 12-month period, and ultimately we exited Point and Billabong. While we generally aim to be long-term shareholders of our holdings, these retailers fell short of our initial expectations. In the case of Point, a multi-brand clothing store operator in Japan, it became apparent that the company's competitive position had been eroded, raising questions about the ongoing profitability and growth in future dividends.

In recent months, the Fund also exited and took profits in two small Thai holdings, LPN Development and Glow Energy, after the dividend yield had compressed because of significant share price appreciation.

Asia continues to look attractive compared to other regional markets for investors seeking both dividend income and growth. With a dividend yield of about 3.9% at the end of March, the Fund's holdings offered a higher-than-average yield versus the region, with businesses that we believe seem well-poised to deliver future dividend growth.

Pacific Tiger Fund

Fund Manager Report

Performance figures discussed in any of the Fund Manager Commentaries reflect that of the Institutional Accumulation Class Shares (USD).

For the one-year period ending 31 March 2012, the Pacific Tiger Fund declined –1.49% while its benchmark, the MSCI All Country Asia ex Japan Index, fell –6.79%. For the past year, the performance of Asian capital markets was dominated by macroeconomic events with correlation across different asset classes running at relatively high levels. Some of the portfolio's holdings in the region's consumer staples sector provided a rare bright spot of positive returns, and were important drivers of relative performance. The portfolio's financial holdings, especially in some of the smaller markets like Thailand and Philippines, and an underweight in Chinese financials also helped relative performance.

By contrast, for the quarter ending 31 March 2012, the Fund returned 10.06%, underperforming the benchmark which gained 13.76%. Asian equities staged a partial recovery on the back of easing global liquidity, and some early signs of stabilising economic fundamentals, particularly in such developed economies as the United States. As a result, some of the stocks in sectors like industrials, which experienced sharp declines last year, posted strong gains for the first three months of 2012. Consequently, our underweight in industrials was one of the factors behind the Fund's relative underperformance in the quarter.

Another significant reason for the Fund's relative underperformance in the last quarter was our holdings in South Korea. In recent periods, the Korean government has become rather active in micro-managing price levels across a broad basket of goods and services, such as insurance and health care, which impacted some Fund holdings. Separately, we exited a relatively newer holding in the portfolio, Himart, a leading South Korean home appliance retailer. While Himart's operational performance continues to be encouraging, in recent months the divisions within its board and between members of senior management have become more entrenched. It became our view that this might hinder the progress of the company. We held a somewhat modestly sized position which was eliminated earlier this calendar year.

During the past year, we also added to select infrastructure-related Indian equities, particularly as valuations became increasingly attractive toward the second half of 2011. A recovery in the operating performance of these companies is likely to be predicated on the resolution of some of the regulatory bottlenecks that have long been an overhang on the sector. We also continue to see opportunities within small to medium enterprises (SMEs), particularly in China despite the challenges they have faced over the past few years. Following our recent trips to the country, we are increasingly convinced that SMEs continue to make up some of the most vibrant segments of China's economy, and offer an attractive way to participate in the difficult rebalancing of economic growth that is currently underway in the country.

We believe that confidence is gradually returning among companies and consumers although there is still some wariness about the direction of both the global economy and inflation, which could again become a threat. In our view, in spite of the appreciation in equity prices this year, valuations remain at attractive levels. Furthermore, the progression in earnings revisions may get some boost from a relatively more accommodative monetary cycle, and perhaps lower commodity prices. The near-term business environment may also become more favourable. However, we remain focused on finding businesses that can deliver appreciation in shareholder value across cycles.

Fund Manager Report

Performance figures discussed in any of the Fund Manager Commentaries reflect that of the Institutional Accumulation Class Shares (USD).

For the one-year period ending 31 March 2012, the China Fund returned -8.83%, while its benchmark, the MSCI China Index, returned -12.65%. Volatility among Chinese equities remained high during the period as the stocks were swayed by their own set of macroeconomic events including weak domestic economic data and worries over a hard landing. During the first two months of 2012, stocks posted gains as investors were encouraged by signs of easing monetary policy and an improved global economic outlook.

The most important economic events during the period were the government's efforts to fight inflation and the continued decline of inflation during the second half of the period. This decline was in line with government expectations, which allowed authorities to shift monetary policy toward further easing. In February, the central bank cut the bank reserve ratio by 50 basis points (0.50%)—its second cut since November.

For the 12-month period, the Fund saw negative returns from nearly all major sectors except utilities, health care and telecommunication services. For the first three months of 2012, the Fund benefited most from holdings in consumer discretionary and information technology, both of which were overweight the benchmark. Hotel, casino and education-related companies continued to post strong growth and momentum. Conversely, consumer staples holdings were among the biggest detractors to Fund performance, as we maintain an overweight in this sector. While some service-related consumer stocks performed well during the most recent quarter, we continued to see an overall slowdown of retail activity within the country. Department stores, supermarkets, apparel makers and airlines have all reported weak sales data over the past two quarters. We believe the tighter economic policy that China carried out for most of last year was the main cause.

We made some small changes to the portfolio during the period, exiting some industrial sector positions. Earlier this year, we initiated a position in China Mengniu Dairy, a producer of milk, ice cream and yogurt, and one of China's largest dairy companies. China's dairy industry is one in which we believe long-term growth potential is strong. The industry famously underwent some product safety and quality issues some years back and is still under consolidation as a result. We believe that as a leader in the field, Mengniu should benefit from further industry consolidation.

One recent banking sector concern has centered on the issue of local government funding in China. In late February, we dedicated time on a research trip to further evaluate this financing platform, and found assurance in the legitimacy of some of the projects funded via this channel. The projects had reasonable cash flow for debt repayment, and we found that new lending through these vehicles was reasonably limited.

Although there are signs of stabilisation in property markets throughout many Chinese cities, monetary tightening polices should continue to be in place for some time. Property markets may still come under pressure, but it appears that leverage in the property market is very low. Despite some persistent skepticism amongst commentators, overall, we continue to believe that a hard landing in China is unlikely and economic activities will gain momentum as monetary policies gradually ease.

India Fund

Fund Manager Report

Performance figures discussed in any of the Fund Manager Commentaries reflect that of the Institutional Accumulation Class Shares (USD).

The India Fund was launched on 30 June 2011. From its inception through 31 March 2012, the Fund fell -16.90% while its benchmark, the Bombay Stock Exchange 100 Index, returned -17.57%. About two-thirds of the decline was due to a depreciation of the Indian rupee against the U.S. dollar, which reached an all-time low level in December. The quarter ended 31 March 2012 saw some recovery both in the market and in the currency amid resurgent foreign portfolio inflows and central bank indications that the monetary tightening cycle had peaked. Additionally, the government signaled it would take measures to conduct power sector reforms. However, concerns over worsening fiscal and external account deficits, and the impending maturity of upcoming external debt remained.

The government's proposed budget in March did attempt to address the fiscal deficit by monitoring growth in subsidies, but fell short of introducing any bold reforms. In fact, a long overdue proposed hike in railway passenger fares elicited strong political backlash, leading to the proposal getting scrapped for the most part. Weakening political support for India's federal governing party has been part of the problem, as demonstrated by several recent regional election results.

In terms of performance drivers, the biggest source of negative returns came from the portfolio's exposure to industrials, where the Fund's allocation has risen over the last three years, predicated on the belief that infrastructure as a percentage of GDP is likely to inch up. However, the lack of regulatory clarity has taken a toll on the smooth passage of infrastructure projects, many of which are held up for want of government approvals or policy reforms. Another source of negative returns was our financial sector holdings, most notably in public sector banks. Rising interest rates, delays in infrastructure project completions and some loose lending practices were the primary reasons for the increase in nonperforming loans. That said, the market did reward a few private sector banks that demonstrated better lending standards.

Factors that were helpful in mitigating losses on a relative basis were a somewhat higher cash balance at the time of the portfolio's inception, the strategy's convertible bond holdings and its underweight in the energy sector. The convertibles held up much better during the first six months of the reporting period amid the widespread correction but also underperformed during the last quarter as the market rallied. During the last quarter we exited two of our convertible bond holdings—Reliance Communications and Sesa Goa. The former was close to maturity while the latter was sold to rebalance the portfolio in favour of equities. During the last quarter, we also exited truck finance company Shriram Transport as we had increasing concerns over changes in regulations that impact financing terms that might be severe enough to affect the firm's business model. As a result of this and other reallocation decisions, the portfolio became more concentrated within financials.

Going forward, we anticipate that policy reforms will face some headwinds. India's ruling Congress Party fared poorly in regional elections, and uncertainties related to upcoming general elections might tempt federal leaders to bow to populist measures. A relatively more favourable monetary climate may help the outlook for investment spending, which remains critical in our view to sustain long-term growth rates. Market valuations are at, or lower than, historical averages. We strive to be fully invested across cycles, and continue to employ our bottom-up stock selection process.

China Small Companies Fund

Fund Manager Report

Performance figures discussed in any of the Fund Manager Commentaries reflect that of the Institutional Accumulation Class Shares (USD).

The China Small Companies Fund was launched on 29 February 2012. From its inception through 31 March 2012, the Fund declined -4.60% while its benchmark, the MSCI China Small Cap Index, fell -8.35%.

The Fund was introduced based on our conviction that small businesses are benefiting from China's shift to a market economy and are playing an increasingly important role in China's overall economy. It is estimated that small and medium enterprises (SMEs) account for more than half of both China's total GDP and its industrial output. Compared to China's traditional state-owned enterprises, the mostly privately run SMEs are generally more efficient and dynamic, with better-incentivized management teams seeking to maximize profitability. In constructing this portfolio, we seek companies (generally with market capitalizations under US$3 billion) that are in their initial stage of growth and have the potential to become industry leaders. We focus on companies with compelling business models and management teams capable of delivering sustainable growth. We also look for companies with the ability to capitalize on favorable long-term trends and that employ a disciplined use of capital.

Following the launch of the Fund, in March, the Chinese government lowered its 2012 GDP growth target to 7.5% from the long-standing 8% annual growth target it has maintained since 2005. The slower anticipated speed of growth should be beneficial to the sustainable long-term development of China's economy. The stock market retreated in March due to weaker-thanexpected economic numbers and growing concerns about a hard landing.

Towngas China Company Ltd., a Hong Kong-based utility company that focuses on city gas projects in mainland China, was among the top contributors to performance during this period. The firm exemplifies some attributes of the companies we seek—those that benefit from China's long-term trend of urbanisation and increased adoption of clean energy. With experienced management and a solid financial position, the company delivered outstanding operating results. We believe the company is well-positioned to benefit from China's strong commitment to natural gas development and gas pipeline expansion.

Challenges facing the market during this period included ongoing wage inflation that continued to shrink corporate margins. Lianhua Supermarket Holdings, a leading retail chain operator in eastern China reported weakerthan-expected results due to a sharp increase in staffing costs. However, this cost pressure was shared across the industry, and Lianhua has been proactive in its strategy of optimising both its merchandise system and distribution network to achieve better operating efficiency. We hold this position as we believe the company can strengthen its regional leadership and benefit from increasing domestic consumption.

China's economic growth appears to be moderating at a steady pace, and inflation seems to be well-contained. We believe a slowdown in growth could help China address some of the structural imbalances in its economy. While wage inflation may continue to pressure businesses, higher wages should lead to increasing domestic demand and better social stability.

Investing in small- and mid-size companies is more risky and volatile than investing in large companies as they may be more volatile and less liquid than larger companies.

2. SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

A) PRESENTATION OF FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

The financial statements are prepared in accordance with Luxembourg regulations relating to Undertakings for Collective Investment.

B) COMBINED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

The Combined Statement of Assets and Liabilities and Combined Statements of Operations and Changes in Net Assets are expressed in USD.

C) VALUATION OF THE INVESTMENTS IN SECURITIES AND MONEY MARKET INSTRUMENTS

The Fund's equity securities are valued based on market quotations or at fair value as determined in good faith by or under the direction of the Board of Directors (the "Board") when no market quotations are available or when market quotations have become unreliable.

Market values for equity securities are determined based on the last sale price on the principal (or most advantageous) market on which the security is traded. If a reliable last sale price is not available, market values for equity securities are determined using the mean between the last available bid and asked price. Securities are valued through valuations obtained from a commercial pricing service or at the most recent mean of the bid and asked prices provided by investment dealers in accordance with the Fund's Pricing Policies.

Events affecting the value of foreign investments may occur between the time at which they are determined and the Fund's valuation point of 2:00 p.m. Luxembourg. Such events would not normally be reflected in a calculation of a Fund's NAV on that day. If events that materially affect the value of the Fund's foreign investments occur during such period, and the impact of such events can be reasonably determined, the investments will be valued at their fair value.

As at 31 March 2012

The Board has delegated the responsibility of making fair value determinations to the Investment Manager's Valuation Committee (the "Valuation Committee"), subject to the Fund's Pricing Policies. The Fund has retained third-party pricing services that may be utilized by the Valuation Committee under circumstances described in the Pricing Policies to provide fair value prices for certain securities held by the Fund. When fair value pricing is employed, the prices of securities used by a Sub-Fund to calculate its NAV differ from quoted or published prices for the same securities for that day. All fair value determinations are made subject to the Board's oversight.

D) NET REALISED AND UNREALISED GAIN/(LOSS) ON SALES OF INVESTMENTS

Realised and unrealised gains or losses on sales of investments are calculated on the basis of first in first out cost method of the investments sold.

E) CONVERSION OF FOREIGN CURRENCIES

The books and records of the Fund are maintained in USD.

Transactions denominated in foreign currencies are recorded at the current prevailing exchange rates. All assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies are translated into USD at the current exchange rate.

Translation gains or losses resulting from changes in the exchange rate during the reporting year/period and realised gains and losses on the settlement of foreign currency transactions are reported in the results of operations for the current year/period.

The Fund does not isolate that portion of gains and losses on investments in equity securities that are due to changes in the foreign exchange rate from those that are due to changes in market prices of equity securities.

The accounting records and the financial statements of each Sub-Fund are expressed in the currency indicated below:

CURRENCY
USD

Bank accounts, other net assets and market value of the investments in securities expressed in currencies other than the currency of a Sub-Fund are converted at the exchange rates prevailing on the date of the balance sheet. Income and expenses in currencies other than the currency of a Sub-Fund are converted at the rate of exchange prevailing at payment date.

Net realised and unrealised gains and losses on foreign exchange transactions represent: (i) foreign exchange gains and losses from the sale and holding of foreign currencies; (ii) gains and losses between trade date and settlement date on securities transactions and (iii) gains and losses arising from the difference between amounts of dividends and interest recorded and the amounts actually received.

The Vietnamese dong ("VND") trades within an established exchange rate with the USD. Upon the sale of a Vietnamese asset, the Fund may not be able to exchange significant amounts of VND directly for USD. However, the Investment Manager believes that the Fund would be able to exchange significant amounts of VND for Hong Kong dollars, which it can exchange directly for USD. Accordingly, the Fund values its Vietnamese assets in terms of USD taking into account the VND/Hong Kong dollar and Hong Kong dollar/USD exchange rates (a "triangulated exchange rate"), which it believes is more representative of the net value it would actually receive in connection with a significant sale of Vietnamese assets and the repatriation of the proceeds to Luxembourg.

F) COST OF INVESTMENTS IN SECURITIES

Cost of investments in securities in currencies other than the currency of a Sub-Fund is converted into the Sub-Fund's currency at the exchange rate applicable at purchase date.

G) INCOME

Interest income is accrued on a daily basis and may include the amortisation of premiums and accretions of discounts. Bank and time deposits interest income is recognised on an accrual basis.

Dividends are credited to income on the date upon which the relevant securities are first listed as 'ex dividend' provided that the amount of a dividend is known with reasonable certainty. This income is shown net of any withholding taxes, except where the withholding tax has been received or is receivable.

H) FEE WAIVER

The Investment Manager may, for such time as it considers appropriate, choose to waive all or part of the fees that it is entitled to receive, as well as other Fund expenses, in order to reduce the impact such fees and expenses may have on the performance of the Class. The investment manager will reimburse on a monthly basis the amount of the fee waiver to the respective Sub-Fund.

As at 31 March 2012

The amount of such fee waiver is separately disclosed as a "Fee Waiver" in the Statements of Operations and Changes in Net Assets.

I) FORMATION EXPENSES

The cost of establishing the Fund amounted to 134,429 USD. The establishment costs are amortised on a straight line basis over five years from the date of which the Fund commenced business.

J) USE OF ESTIMATES

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the amounts reported in the financial statements and accompanying notes. Actual results may differ from those estimates.

5. CUSTODIAN AND CENTRAL ADMINISTRATION FEES

The Custodian and the Administrative Agent receive from the Fund aggregate fees that amount to a maximum of 2% per annum of the total net assets of each Sub-Fund. Transaction costs will be charged separately (see note 8 for more details). The fees effectively charged to each Sub-Fund will be disclosed in the semi-annual and annual reports of the Fund. The Custodian and Administration Agent fees are payable monthly in arrears.

6. INDEPENDENT DIRECTOR FEE

The Directors and Conducting Officer who are employees of Matthews International Capital Management, LLC do not receive additional compensation in respect of these roles.

As at 31 March 2012

7. TAXATION

A) TAXE D'ABONNEMENT

The subscription tax is payable quarterly and calculated on the total net assets of each Sub-Fund at the end of the relevant quarter at a rate of 0.05% per annum.

This rate is reduced to 0.01% (i) for sub-funds or individual classes of shares reserved to one or more institutional investors or (ii) funds or sub-funds having the exclusive object to invest in money market instruments as defined by the Grand-Ducal Decree of 14 April 2003.

B) PROVISION FOR FOREIGN TAXES

The Sub-Funds may be subject to short-term capital gains tax in India on gains realised upon disposition of Indian securities held less than one year. The tax is computed on net realised gains; any realised losses in excess of gains may be carried forward for a period of up to eight years to offset future gains. Any net taxes payable must be remitted to the Indian government prior to repatriation of sales proceeds. The Sub-Funds that invest in Indian securities accrue a deferred tax liability for net unrealised short-term gains in excess of available carry forwards on Indian securities. This accrual may reduce a Sub-Fund's net asset value. As of 31 March 2012, the Matthews India Fund has recorded a payable of 56,845 USD as an estimate for potential future India capital gains taxes.

During the financial year, the South Korean tax authorities issued a ruling advising that the reduced South Korea/ Luxembourg double tax treaty withholding rates would not apply to SICAVs, and the Seoul Regional Tax Office has claimed withholding taxes on dividend and income from August 2010 from the following Sub-Funds: Matthews Asia Funds Pacific Tiger Fund and Matthews Asia Funds Asia Dividend Fund.

Those amounts have been recorded as a reduction of "Dividend Income, Net".

For the other countries, no specific provision is necessary.

The total monetary value of these arrangements for the year ended 31 March 2012 are $6,619.

11. DIVIDENDS

The Company intends to declare and distribute dividends representing substantially all of the net investment income attributable to Distributing Shares. Dividends in respect of these Shares will normally be payable annually, will be declared in the currency of denomination of the relevant Fund and will be recorded on ex-date. Interim dividends in respect of the Distributing Shares of any particular Fund may be paid from the attributable net investment income and realised capital gains with a frequency and at such intervals as the Board of Directors may decide.

12. SWING PRICING

The Board of Directors of the Company implemented a price adjustment policy in order to protect the interests of the Fund's Shareholders. The purpose of the price adjustment policy is to allocate the costs associated with large inflows and outflows to investors transacting that day, thereby protecting the long-term Shareholder from the worst effects of dilution. It achieves this purpose by adjusting the price at which deals in a sub-fund are transacted. In other words, sub-fund prices may be adjusted up or down depending on the level and type of investor transactions on a particular day. In this way the existing and remaining Shareholders do not suffer an inappropriate level of dilution. The Fund will only trigger an adjustment in the price when there are significant net flows likely to have a material impact on existing and remaining Shareholders. The adjustment will be based on the normal dealing costs for the particular assets in which a sub-fund is invested but will not exceed 2% of the price. Once an adjustment is made to the price, that price is the official price for that sub-fund for all deals that day.
